ACMEGS

AMERICAN CLINICAL MEG SOCIETY

Corporate Support Program

ACMEGS is a non-profit 501(c)6 trade association, founded in 2006 by physician-leaders committed to setting a national agenda for quality epilepsy care. ACMEGS educates public and private policymakers and regulators about appropriate patient care standards, reimbursement and medical services policies. In addition to publishing the world's first Clinical Practice Guidelines (CPGs) for MEG, the Society has a track record of working productively with private insurers nationwide.

It is the goal of ACMEGS to be increasingly essential to our colleagues in the MEG field, serving critical educational and advocacy functions. The Society is proud to list the following accomplishments to date:

- ACMEGS has been the leading force that succeeded in precipitating cardinal improvements in positive MEG86 coverage and reimbursement across the country. Assisted by the American Academy of Neurology (AAN), ACMEGS closely monitors how the new changes in health care will impact the MEG CPT codes.
- ACMEGS successfully negotiated MEG coverage with a number of large commercial insurance carriers (in excess of 125 million members) solidifying your prospects for financial success in this field.
- Our published Clinical Practice Guidelines provide expert guidance on standardizing MEG patient care across the country and provide a platform for laboratory development at new centers. They also represent a foundation for further systematic professional growth and worldwide leadership.
- ACMEGS sponsors an annual society meeting, covering scientific and economic aspects of clinical MEG in the United States as well as a CME-accredited annual Clinical MEG Course that is a great refresher for an experienced member and an educational boost for the novice.

Who are ACMEGS Members?

ACMEGS counts most of the clinical MEG sites across the country among its members. Visit www.acmegs.org/membership/clinical-meg-locations for a complete list of ACMEGS Member Centers.
